Dear ACWW Society President, Members and Coordinators,

I wish you and yours a very Happy and safe Canadian Thanksgiving!

Thank you for your support of the work of ACWW and I look forward to seeing your coordinator Margie Taylor at the next Coordinators' Meeting on Saturday, October 21st, the focus this time will be on projects.

International Day of Rural Women is on October 15th.

On December 18, 2007, during the United Nations General Assembly, it was declared in its resolution 62/136 that October 15 would be celebrated annually as International Day of Rural Women worldwide. This day is dedicated to the millions of women living in remote, rural places, and celebrates the achievements and contributions of these women towards rural development and agriculture. If your society is doing something special to recognize this day, please let me know what has been done and I will share that information in my next Area Canada Newsletter

All the best.
Marie
